

INDUSTRIAL SITE SAFETY SERVICES

What We Do – Help people work safely in hazardous places.

Industrial sites are hazardous places. Confined spaces have all of the hazards of a normal industrial site, but lack the handrails, guards, ventilation, and other safety features of a normal job site - they are not designed for continuous human occupancy.

OSHA regulations require that qualified rescue personnel be present whenever work is conducted inside of permitted confined spaces. NorthTree provides Technical Rescue Response and Standby services to protect workers operating in confined spaces.

On all of our projects, our expert techs evaluate the site, plan a rescue, and install rigging to extricate workers who may become injured.

Contact us for custom solutions to your site's emergency, safety, and project challenges. We offer Industrial Support Services including:

- Confined Space Rescue Standby
- Compliance Evaluations/Observations
- Site Emergency Medical Services/Workplace Injury Management
- Technical Rescue Training
- Project Logistics

- Railroad Fire and Standby Operations
